Name of the Document: 6. Landscaping with trees and plants

Hajee Karutha Rowther Howdia College, the first higher educational institution in Cumbum valley is an outcome of founder's passion towards the upliftment of the agricultural families of his native area. The strength of the students and staffs are 2578 and 215 respectively. Taking the green related concepts into consideration the college is committed to protect and to promote greenery in its campus. To maintain its green aim active, the college implements the traditional and scientific methods besides enforcing the legislations laid down by the government. Green Awareness programmes are conducted periodically in the campus for the staffs and students to keep the campus green forever thereby enhancing the beauty of Cumbum valley.

Garden provides greenery and sustainability on the campus to ensure green standards. There are 465 trees cultivated in which small trees, semi grown trees and grown trees of more than 14 families are planted. Shrubs like Crotons, Duranta, Calotropis, Lantana, Nerium, Abutilon and Cassia are the important genera to mention.

The herbal garden of the college is established in an area of 4000 sq. feet of land where important species of medicinal plants and kitchen plants are grown. There are four lawns and many hedges are present adding the greenery and aesthetic value to the college campus. Scientific names and vernacular names (Tamil) of trees are displayed in metal boards on every tree. A gardener is appointed to regulate water supply, weeding and manuring.

Trees renew our air supply by absorbing carbon dioxide and producing oxygen. The amount of oxygen produced by an acre of trees per year equals the amount consumed by 18 people annually. One tree produces nearly 260 pounds of oxygen each year. 1,17,000 pounds of oxygen is produced by the vegetation present in the college campus per year. The staff and students are enriched with the surplus supply of oxygen by the green cover of the campus.
